DODGE'S INSTITUTE OF TELEGRAPHY.

THE WONDERS ABOUT US.

Aerography.

"The sea shall give up its dead."

Five thousand lives have been snatched from watery graves, twenty millions of treasure have been saved from the ocean's maw in one twelfth month through the instrumentality of aerography, commonly known as wireless telegraphy. Everybody in this city knows that Dodge's Institute of Telegraphy is a busy institution turning out hundreds of trained telegraphers. Every one of Valparaiso's 10,000 people have seen the wireless antenae and wondered. But it is quite safe to say that not everybody has stopped to consider that Dodge's Institute of Telegraphy on Monroe street, right here among us, enjoys the undisputed distinction of being the greatest "wire" and "wireless" telegraphic institution in the known world.

While Valparaiso's 10,000 are asleep, often the wireless station here is in communication with Chicago or Milwaukee or New York—talking through the air. When we go down town in the evening messages are being sent over our heads to places a thousand miles away. Recently the writer was granted an extended interview with Prof. Baskerville, in charge of the wireless department of the institute. We print here in brief a part of the interview.

Q.—What is the longest message ever sent by wireless?

A.—Marconi claims to have recently sent a message from Argentina to Ireland a distance of 6,000 miles. I'd like to believe that he did, but I'm not ready to accept that yet.

Q.—What is the longest message you ever sent?

LOWENSTINES'

A.—From Panama to New York, a distance of 1,970 miles. I often communicated from Havana, Cuba, to New York.

Q.—What distance do you send and receive messages from the Valparaiso station?

A.—A number of times we have communicated with Key West and Porto Rico—not infrequently with the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, and every day with Milwaukee and Chicago.

Q.—Will wireless become practical?

A.—It is practical. Messages are sent every day between Massachusetts and Scotland. Ships are in constant touch with each other, and hence with the shore while crossing the Atlantic. The "Freak Message" or "Souvenir Message" is nearly a thing of the past. Now nearly all messages are commercial messages. Stocks are bought and sold by wireless. It will never be practical on land. The wire system beats it there, but you can't stretch wires from one ship to another. The wireless does there successfully what the wire cannot.

On another page of The Herald will be found a special article by Prof. Baskerville showing the advantages to a young man of the wireless telegraphy course. Turn now to that and you will read directly from the pen of the greatest teacher of wireless telegraphy in the world. Prof. Baskerville is a North Carolinian and a very very pleasant man. If you want to know more about the greatest invention of all the ages drop in and see him or write him. He is married to his work and would be delighted to answer any questions.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

By Prof. Baskerville, of Dodge's Institute of Telegraphy, Valparaiso, Ind.

The Wireless field is worthy of the serious consideration of every young man who has the ambition to make a name for himself. In it is Opportunity. Golden deeds have been accomplished in it, and far more will be. Hundreds of lives have been saved, and far many more will be in the future by expert handling of the key.

You think wireless telegraphy is wonderful, but when you actually operate the instruments and successfully communicate with far distant ships you feel the mystic spell as if the wireless waves had warmed your blood. You hear a distress call very faintly and you press the head phones closer and strive to recognize that faint voice so you can have your ship surry to the rescue.

Wireless telegraphy offers substantially, first, God's free and open air upon the sea. Second, first-class travel to foreign ports—an education in itself, and certainly a fine finish to anyone's education. Third, pay while traveling. Instead of paying for transportation, you are paid to travel, and furthermore you have a better time than any passenger, even though he has plenty of money, for you are the best informed man aboard. You have "inside" information of what's going on ashore, and you don't have to tell any one unless you wish to. Fourth, an exhilarating excitement at all times while at sea. You know, confidentially, of course, every move of the captain. At times you actually tell him what to do (You get it from ashore in shape of a message). You keep him posted on weather conditions (from Weather Bureau ashore) and always foretell him of a storm. By "listening in" you get "obstruction reports" from the Bureau of Navigation telling of dangers to navigation, such as wreck-age, derelicts, etc. Fifth, leisure while in port. Sixth, rapid advancement when you have shown real ability.

This is the day of specialists. Many men do their duty well because they are trained well.

Take a look at the wonderful world while young by becoming a good wireless operator.

Scientific Class.

A meeting of the Scientific Class of '11 was held in Room C, Wednesday night, Jan. 4, 1911. This meeting was one of more than usual interest and importance because it signaled the close of the term of office of the last term's regime, which has been in every sense successful.

The retiring president, Mr. S. H. Doak, was absent by reason of sickness and the vice-president, Mr. L. A. Doak, officiated in his stead. The class proceeded at once to elect a new president and corps of assistants to pilot the class during the ensuing term.

The question of the next occupant of the high office was soon settled, Mr. Clyde Suddorth being nominated, was elected without a dissenting vote. The class should feel honored by having such a man, of such executive ability, to pilot the class into peaceful harbors, as he is able to do. Ample provision was made for any absence of his part by choosing as his vice, Mr. J. F. Lewman.

Miss Tilda Clement, a promising young lady from New England, was chosen secretary. The interest of the meeting became intense. Each one seemed to be thinking, "Who will be chosen treasurer?" The excitement was soon brought to an end. The finger of Destiny seemed to point to but one, "jolly John Eble," as most qualified by experience and natural endowment to manipulate the cash register. The members seemed of one accord in preferring to part with their money if it were handed to a "fat, jolly fellow" who by his genial and expressive smile could make them feel that they were receiving rather than giving.

After electing the editor and brief remarks from the newly elected officers, the class adjourned to meet again at the call of the president.

Have you seen those nifty panels that Reading is getting out at $1.50 per dozen? Swellest things ever turned out at anything like that price.

Reading Studio.

The Catholic Society.

A pleasant program was held under the auspices of the Catholic Society on the evening of Jan. 16th. That it was immensely enjoyed is the expression of many who attended despite the inclemency of the weather. After the program, games were played and some, seemingly enjoyed themselves in the mysteries of a tete-a-tete. The society is planning an unusually good program for Saturday evening, Jan. 24th. It is intended to be an evening's pleasure in the fullest sense of that term and bids fair to be up to the expectations of the most critical. One way of expressing our thanks to those who contributed to the program, is thru this bi-weekly organ, The Herald. We desire to enter on no encomium, but merely to express an honest and appreciative thank and conclude with a Greek "Amen." To comment on the excellent attendance, to extend a cordial, hospitable welcome to the stray lambs; to commend the abilities of the program committee for its recognized and appreciative successes in securing intensely absorbing programs, is but a continuance of the expression of well deserved appreciation. It is gratifying to know that with the essential requisites—like-mindedness, and consciousness of like people are enabled to co-operate. Our organization could manifest this ability to co-operate more strongly and more advantageously by a more intimate, harmonious working of all its members. True it is, the duties of leadership are restricted to few, but the duty doing duty is a common heritage of all. It is not the editor's purpose to turn moralist and promulgate explicit rules of action; this is the business of the lawyers, but it is the editor's purpose to recommend a more liberal action on the part of the society members. We notice that there is a trend towards popular government on the part of the world's powers. In like manner, there should be a trend towards popular enthusiasm, and this can hardly be too strong for the best promotion of welfare. If this is true of a government, it is likewise true of any society. "A word to wise is sufficient." As an expletive appendage or climatical finale it behooves us to say that the society's field of praise is incommensurable, that its realm of censure is infinitesimal, and that ultimately, and highest in importance of all it will continue to have good programs, good times and lastly and conclusively invites you to attend the next program, which will be extraordinarily good in the superlative degree.

Editor.

It's about time you were thinking about Class Pictures, which means thinking of Reading—the only man equipped to make them, and do all the work in his own studio, and you will not have any long wait or disappointment in your work. Out on time and at the right price. Let's talk it over.

Senior Law Notes.

W. T. Nobles, Editor.

My failure to appear in the last edition of the Herald was due to the fact that there was nothing doing, not even a snow storm. But since that time there has been a Thaw accompanied by a perpetual rain which gives me an abundance of material to work on. For we are all still conscious of the fact that the same word (THAW) gave the Supreme Court of New York and the Chicago American a deal of material to work on about three years ago.

The price of coal having advanced to $8 the fire in the South end stove of the law building has been extinguished and the same will not again be rekindled until Mr. Kinsey has had intelligence conveyed to him as to what action the Democratic majority intends to take concerning the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

Each member of the Senior Class has been presented with a Warranty Deed and the game is to pick a flaw in the same. It is often amusing to watch some poor Brethern as he wildly scans the Deed trying to find where the Seisin dodged the Use, or where the Monument failed to mark the final resting place of the Grantor, or perchance where some wretch cut down the Butterball tree or filled up the spring, and when it is by Metes and Bounds whether the poor lawyer will be able to make both ends meet.

Mr. Johnson, one of the worthy members of the class has been suffering of late from a very severe cold and was severely scored the other night by Judge Gillett for coming out in the rain to recite in Evidence. It seems that the Judge, who is authority on certain human ailments could plainly see that Mr. Johnson was in no fit condition to be out that night.

In view of the fact that so many of our class are getting married or hooked up as it were, Mr. Burns thot it would be expedient to quote the Law on and concerning Charivari. He used our Mr. John Doe Brubacker as his specimen for the occasion.

Being about ready to commence our work in Circuit Court we thought that we would not be able to go ahead owing to the fact that we had no man of straw, or in other words a Richard Roe but we were all highly elated to hear one Mr. Bailey announce that he had at last found among our ranks the long looked for specimen.

Owing to the fact that the aforesaid fire has gone out in the South stove, which stove was used for the purpose of heating the Equity Side of our building, the Chancellors are now sitting in inbanc with the Itinerant Justices in Ire on the Law or north side.

We were all much aggrieved to have one of our members leave us suddenly last week being called home on account of the illness of his father. This gentleman, Mr. Doster, was an old member of the class having been with us from the first, he stated further more that he did not intend to come back again until next year.

I must say in closing that it might be a good thing for all us Code Lawyers to learn what a Similiter is before we aspire to the Supreme Bench.

Professional Class.

It is the custom for the various classes of the school to elect new officers each term, thus bestowing honors upon many. This short administration has some advantages, for if the office is a bad thing, one man has had it long enough, and if it is a good thing, it is time to pass it along. Of course officers in the Professional Class are a good thing, so it was for purpose of sharing the honors, that the class met in Room D on Thursday evening, Jan. 5. The new officers elected for the second term were:

President, Mr. Bernis, Nance; vice-president, Mr. Wilson New; secretary, Miss Marion H. Thompson; treasurer, Mr. George W. Fite; editor, Miss Zella Landis.

It was suggested that we select our Class Historian early in the year in order to give him ample time for his task. After some discussion of the question, Mr. B. F. Richard was chosen to keep an eye upon our history in the making, and record the events of our class life at the end of the year. It was decided to have a social about the seventh week in order to become better acquainted and to promote class unity.

The enrollment of the class shows a large proportion of young men, who seem to realize that the profession of teaching is by no means an effeminate one. As usual there are a number of Scientifics in this department, who expect to complete both courses this year. The class at present numbers about forty, but others who (expect to complete) have had a part of the work, will join us later.

Engineering Society.

George M. Coughlin, Editor.

Those who allowed the bad weather to keep them away from the Engineers meeting, January 5th, missed the reading of two splendid papers before the society. Both papers were by members. The first, by Carl Henshaw, was a discussion on the Auditorium Theatre, of Chicago. Mr. Henshaw held chiefly to the part seldom seen by the theatre goer. He talked on the arrangement and appliances of that mysterious place, "Behind the Scenes." The word picture of Mr. Henshaw's was as good as a visit to the theatre and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who braved the stormy weather to attend the meeting.

The second speaker was George Coughlin, a Freshman member of the Society. He read an interesting and instructive paper on "The Opportunities of Young Engineers." It seemed strange that such a paper should come from a member of the Freshman class, but Mr. Coughlin explained that he had studied the subject well and as he had had five years of practical engineering work before he came to Valparaiso, he was well able to discuss his subject. The paper was an excellent one and carried some good advice to the young engineers.

If the Gods of the weather played a mean trick on the Engineers at their regular meeting they made up for their cruelty by giving us a splendid night on which to hold our social. It happened last Saturday night and such a time as we did have. The Engineers turned out at Elocution Hall in full force. President Buzby opened the festivities with a neat speech and then turned the entertainment of the company upon Mr. Muller, our past president. Mr. Muller rose to the occasion and announced that several prominent and accomplished musicians had consented to entertain the company. Mr. Harding, a wonderful pianist, Mr. Koering with the clarinet, Mr. Swan with the violin, formed a trio that would be able to compete with the best in the country. Mr. Ruzika played several beautiful selections upon his violin and Mr. Harding was recalled several times to the piano. The music was excellent and the Society expresses their thanks to the performers. After the splendid musical program Mr. Muller called on Mr. Hurne for a short talk. Mr. Hurne, who had helped to arrange the program, and who had carefully watched to see that his name was not placed upon it, rose to his feet with a surprised look upon his face and objected to such proceedings. He insisted that it was Mr. Buzby who was to make the speech at that time, because he remembered seeing Mr. Buzby's name on the program. Mr. Buzby gently assured Mr. Hurne that he must be mistaken, but after a pantomime which outdid anything Alphonso and Gaston, of newspaper fame, ever attempted, Mr. Buzby made a stirring talk on "Class Spirit." Mr. "Chick" Ebert then talked to the fellows about baseball and pointing to the Championship pennant of 1910, which was hanging in a conspicuous place, he declared his willingness to the 1911 team in the race for the next pennant and that he hoped to have plenty of material when the spring weather permitted them to practice. The Engineers are well aware that they will have to work to be able to place the 1911 pennant beside the one of 1910, but as they have already made up their minds that they will win the pennant, there is hardly any use for any of the other teams to even try for it.

After the speech by our baseball manager, Mr. Ebert, Mr. Muller called the company up around the piano, where they sang numerous inspiring songs. While they were singing, a delightful supper was prepared and after the singing the supper was served. That it was appetizing was proved when the plates were rapidly emptied into the yawning chasms which Engineers always carry with them. The supper consisted of sandwiches of different kinds, olives, pickles, pie, cake, ice cream, coffee and fruit. It is perhaps unnecessary to say that there wasn't anything left except the dishes. After the supper a group photograph was taken by Photographer Beam, and then after saying goodnight to the residents of College Hill, with some yells, the Engineers went to their beds.

That the social was a complete success is the opinion of all who attended the function. With the Hall tastily decorated with many Engineering pennants and with the Engineers' colors, it was a place where all just had to enjoy themselves. In the early part of the meeting the company was surprised at the entrance of several young ladies who evidently did not know that they had entered a stag party. It is supposed that the young ladies are in the habit of attending the different society socials and by mistake came to the Engineers stag social. Although the ladies were begged to stay they pleaded a previous engagement and made their escape followed by the pleading looks of our bashful young engineers.

At the next meeting of the Engineering society, which will be held in Room H at 7:15 Friday night, January 20th, Mr. Amstutz will give an illustrated lecture upon "Modern Photography." Mr. Amstutz is a well known artist and is the man who made it possible to send pictures by telegraphy. He will use a stereopticon in his lecture and it will be a serious loss to any of the Engineers who fail to hear him. All of the students who are registered in the Engineering Department are requested to attend this meeting.

H. F. Mc.

The third General Debate was held last Saturday morning. The question "Democracy vs. Republicanism," was discussed from the Democratic standpoint by the Friday night debaters, from the Republican standpoint by the Monday night debaters. The decision was rendered in favor of the Monday night debaters. This makes the third victory for them.

The question for next Saturday is "Socialism versus Democracy and Republicanism." The best debaters of both the Friday and Monday nights sections are being marshalled for this coming conflict.

You never heard of such bargains as we are giving in our clothing department. It would pay you just to come down and look whether you buy or not. Specht-Finney-Skinner Co.

Department of Oratory.

On the evening of the 23rd of December the Department of Oratory held a Christmas frolic in the form of a Masquerade, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. Many of the disguises were so perfect that the most intimate friends failed to recognize each other. It was amusing to watch the various couples promenading about the room, or sitting side by side, each intent on trying to discover the identity of his, or her, partner. They conversed in ghostly whispers, or in voices entirely unlike their natural tones, and which would have been impossible to any but students of this department, and only by some mannerism would one now and then betray him or herself, while many remained incog until the removal of the masques.

Before unmasking there was a "Grand March" then prizes were awarded to the best sustained character, and to the prettiest costume. The first was won by Mr. McNutt, son of "The Dinner Pail Man," who impersonated, to the life, an old negro mammy, while the prize for the prettiest costume was given to Miss Frances Fitch, who was dressed in Spanish costume.

Refreshments were then served, after which games of various kinds were played until a late hour.

One special lot ladies' $1.00 corsets at 59c. Dry Goods Section Specht-Finney-Skinner Co.

The Eastern Society.

The first society social this term was given in Star Hall Saturday evening, Jan. 7, 1911. It was a decided success. People began to pour in as soon as the doors were opened and by the time the first number on the program was announced there was scarcely any standing room left in the hall. There came, not only Easterners, but Westerners, Southerners, Hoosiers and all.

The piano solo by Miss Oldham was well rendered and she was heartily applauded. The second number on the program deserves to be specially mentioned, a paper entitled, "Mr. Easterner's First Impressions of Valparaiso," written by the president, Mr. Brock, and read by Mr. H. Day Bailey. It was a clever witticism disguised as a vivid description of Valpo, and the flashes of wit and humor were very well brought out by Mr. Bailey in his reading.

The vocal solo by Miss Potter was exceedingly well rendered and she was forced to give an encore. Mr. Smith, who was to have given a monologue, was not present. The fifth number was a vocal solo by Miss North. She lived up to the reputation she has made among Valpo audiences. D. J. Schenck wound up the program with readings from Riley. Mr. Schenck has a sympathetic voice which is well adapted to Riley's poems. He brought out the pathos of the "Old Glee Club" in a most pleasing manner.

The Easterners will give a banquet in the near future. The society will endeavor to make it a success and if Easterners continue to show the enthusiasm they have been showing since the beginning of the term it will be the social event of the season.

An Accurate Time Piece is a Source of Pride to Any Man.

There is no use in a man having to apologize for his watch's short-comings every time he is asked the hour.

A good watch doesn't know what it is to be thirty seconds off the dot, after it is once adjusted to the owner.

Doesn't that kind of a watch appeal to you—the kind of a watch that keeps time?

It took us some time to realize the fact and it may take you some time to realize it. But if you'll investigate, you will find that what we tell you is absolutely true—the South Bend is the watch that keeps accurate time, always.

Come in our store and we will show you why this is true and that it is true.

We have convinced a lot of people lately that it's best to buy a South Bend Watch.

VALPARAISO, INDIANA

NORTH DAKOTA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

The North Dakota Alumni Association of the University of Valparaiso was organized at Williston, North Dakota, January 26th, 1907, and since that time have made it a rule to meet annually. Valparaiso University has a great many of its alumni scattered throughout the great state of North Dakota, and when one stops to consider that North Dakota is a state of progress, and a state where the people are all active and successful, it is not at all strange that many of the alumni of that University should have been attracted to cast their lot with it.

The following are a few of the students who got their start at Valparaiso, and who have made good.

Hon. S. E. Ellsworth, of Jamestown, N. D., was a law student at the Northern Indiana Law School during the years of 1890-91. He also graduated in the Scientific Course in 1891. He located at Carrington, N. D., in January, 1903, and engaged in the practice of law. He afterwards moved to Jamestown, where he continued the practice of law until 1899, when he was appointed a member of the Supreme Court by Governor Burke.

Hon. S. E. Ellsworth.

Mr. Ellsworth has made good as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, as well as in the practice of law, and is noted throughout the state not only for his ability as a lawyer, but for the record he has made on the Supreme bench.

Prof. W. C. Palmer, of Fargo, N. D., attended the Valparaiso University, then Northern Indiana Normal School, in 1894-5-6 and graduated from the Scientific, Classic and Business Courses. Since that time he has attended the Minnesota University and Columbia University. For several years he was Dean of the Winona Agricultural College at Winona Lake, Indiana, and is now associated with the Agricultural College of North Dakota, where he is Agricultural Editor of the Extension Department.

Prof. W. C. Palmer.

Prof. Palmer is regarded as one of the best authorities on Agriculture in the Northwest, and in addition to his work as editor, lectures considerably on farming, and is also an extensive writer. He says that he considers Valparaiso University one of the greatest institutions in the U. S. and that it is doing a work which no other school has ever been able to accomplish.

Hon. E. K. Spoonheim, of Grand Forks, N. D., for several years has been in the Legislature of North Dakota, and is another graduate of Valparaiso University. He was at Valparaiso in 1897.

Harriet C. Bedford is teaching a ranch school on the Little Missouri this year. She attended Valparaiso in 1905.

Lloyd Rader, Scientific '01, has been Supt. of Schools in Stark County, N. D., for a number of years, and this year was elected to the State Legislature from that county.

Miss Marie Hanson, Music student 1902, is a music teacher in the Bismarck public schools, and is meeting with great success.

County, N. D. He runs two gasoline traction engines on his farm.

L. B. Dochterman, M. D., is one of the leading physicians of Williston, N. D. He graduated from the Pharmacy Dept. at Valparaiso University in 1897. He is city physician at Williston, which office he has held for two terms.

Edwin A. Palmer, of Williston, N. D., graduated from the Scientific Course in 1902, and from the Classic, Commercial and Law Courses in 1904. He came to North Dakota in the fall of 1904, where he has resided since that time. For the past four years he has been located in Williston, engaged in the active practice of law, and in addition to his general practice has been city attorney for two terms. He enjoys one of the best law practices in the northern part of North Dakota.

Mr. Palmer was the first president of the Valparaiso Alumni Association, which institution he organized.

Mrs. Edwin A. Palmer, formerly Ruth Bradley, was a music student at Valparaiso in 1901-2-3. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer were married in June 1906, and since that time have resided at Williston.

Guy L. Stearns, who took the Pharmacy Course at Valparaiso University in 1904-5 is a pharmacist for the Williston Drug Co. at Williston, N. D., and is making good.

Joseph A. Kitchen

Joseph A. Kitchen, of Sentinel Butte, N. D., who is now County Supt. of Schools of Billings County, graduated in the Elocution Course in 1901, Classic 1902, Law 1903. Mr. Kitchen has been Supt. of Schools for several terms and has made good. He is also President of the Educational Association of the Slope Country of North Dakota. He is recognized as one of the leading educators of this state. Besides being Supt. of Schools he owns what is known as the Dart ranch, near Sentinel Butte, also two farms.

Mrs. Joseph Kitchen, formerly Miss Smith, was a student at Valparaiso in 1902-3, taking the Stenography Course.

Miss Esmond Groff of Sentinel Butte, N. D., who was a student at Valparaiso in 1908, is now assistant principal of the High School at Sentinel Butte.

Prof. F. E. Palmer, Scientific 1905, is principal of the Sentinel Butte Schools this year and is making a record for himself.

Roy Field, of Williston, who is assistant county surveyor, received his early training in engineering at Valparaiso University during the year of 1907.

Harry A. Gibbs, who has been in the U. S. Reclamation service at Williston, N. D., was a student in the Engineering Department during the year of 1907. He owns a farm near Nesson, N. D., where he now resides.

Arthur J. Wilkinson, of Nesson, N. D., attended Valparaiso University in the year of 1907, where he took special work at that time.

M. A. Oleson, who was formerly in the hardware business, graduated in the Scientific Course at Valparaiso in 1897. Mr. Oleson is now located at Harve, N. D.

Edythe A. Hunsley graduated from the Scientific Course in 1900. She is now married and lives north of Williston about six miles, where she has proved up a valuable claim.

J. Woodford Ray, who was an elocution student at Valparaiso is now one of the prosperous farmers of McKenzie County, N. D., being located about twelve miles south of Williston.

C. J. Hunsley, a Scientific of 1897 is now a farmer near Williston.

Thomas F. Craven, of Williston, N. D., one of the leading attorneys of the city, was a student at Valparaiso in 1889-90, at which time he took a general course. He was formerly located at Chaska, Minnesota, but came to Williston during the past summer.

Theresa Block took the Scientific Course at Valparaiso University in 1905 and is now a teacher at Ray, N. D.

D. J. Lewis and E. W. Lewis are prosperous farmers of Ray, N. D., and were formerly students of the University.

Wm. Loughland, of Nesson, N. D., was a student in the Engineering Department in 1907. Mr. Loughland is now attending the Armour Institute at Chicago.

Roy B. Matson, of Farland Post Office, N. D., was a Scientific graduate in 1908. He is now a prosperous farmer.

Maria Block, of Wheelock, N. D., was a Scientific in 1905. She has been teaching in North Dakota for several years. She is principal of schools at Starkweather, N. D.

Minnie P. Elliott, of Wheelock, N. D., Scientific 1904, is teaching this year and has been for several years. She owns a valuable claim at Wheelock, where she spends her summers.

Wm. Pike, Commercial 1909, is a teacher of Wheelock, N. D.

C. B. McNiel, of Angie, N. D., Commercial 1909 is teaching this year.

Lulu Jordan, Stenography 1910 is a stenographer in the law office of Edwin A. Palmer, at Williston, N. D.

John F. McKinney, of Marmon, N. D., Music 1906 is teaching in the southern part of the state this year. He owns considerable farming interests near Marmon, N. D.

Wm. F. McKinney, a farmer of Marmon, N. D., was a Scientific at Valparaiso in 1907.

Mrs. Harry Hanson, formerly Miss Rosendahl, of Williston, N. D., was at Valparaiso in 1896.

T. A. Stenejem, of the firm of Stenejem & Husebye, who own and operate a large hardware store in Williston, N. D., was a student at Valparaiso University in 1900, at which time he took a general course.

Jerry Stenejem, cashier of a bank at Arnegard, N. D., was a Commercial of 1902.

Waldo Leonhardy, secretary of the Bruegger Lignite Coal Co. of Williston, N. D., was a Commercial at Valparaiso in 1906-7.

A. J. Rosenquist, cashier of the First State Bank of Epping, N. D., was a former student of Valparaiso. Mr. Rosenquist is one of the substantial bankers of Williams County.

O. L. Distad, Medic, 1908, is a practicing physician in the city of Williston, N. D., and has a lucrative practice, although he has only been in the city about a year.

Miss Pearl Rhineholt, a former Valpo student, is saleslady in one of the large department stores of Williston, N. D.

The foregoing are only a few of the many former students of Valparaiso who are now located within the fair state of North Dakota and who are reflecting credit upon the institution which gave them their start in "doing things."

Alumni Notes.

Taylorsville, Miss., Jan. 5, 1911.

"I have been doing a little agent work on the side, as you will see by the enclosed P. O. of $1.00 for a year's subscription to The Herald.

I was spending my Christmas vacation with my brother R. G. Smith, who is an old "Valpoite" and superintendent of the schools of P. Gibson, so I through him got acquainted with a Mr. J. M. Taylor, cashier of the Mississippi Southern Bank of that place. He took Scientific and Professional work in "Valpo." Last time he was there as a student was in 1893. He has since then been County Superintendent of Education for Claiborne County; City Superintendent of schools of Biloxi, Miss.; State Senator for his senatorial district, is now interested in this bank besides being cashier of it; owns a large plantation and is President of Claiborne County Agricultural Association. He is a brother of the Hon. J. E. Taylor who graduated in "Valpo" Law school about 1894 or 1895, practiced law in Evansville, Ind., where he died a few years ago.

I had a long talk with Mr. J. M. Taylor, as he seemed interested in "Valpo." I suggested to him that he take the University Herald for a year so he gave me a dollar to send to you for it, so I hope you will have it sent to him regularly. His address is, Mr. J. M. Taylor, cashier of Miss. Southern Bank, Port Gibson, Miss.

I get my Herald all O. K. and enjoy it.

Listen! I don't want you to print this conglomerate mass as I am in a hurry and you just fix up a speel on Mr. Taylor yourself, but if you print this, I'll beat your head when I meet you next spring.

Yours for "Valpo,"

Samuel Smith.

P. S.—The editor doesn't expect to meet Smith soon.

Joliet, Mont., Dec. 28, 1910.

Dear Friend Bennett: Some few days ago I sent you a postal requesting you to change my address to the Herald, from Cheney, Wash., to Joliet, Mont., and said I would give you particulars later. Well here goes. You remember Allen of our class? He was located here and this last election was elected County Attorney, so he made me the offer of taking his practice here, and also appointing me deputy County Attorney. I accepted his proposition and here I am.

The town has a population of about 600 and is surrounded by a fine agricultural district adapted to grain and sugar beets. The people are all Americans and first class Westerners. Red Lodge is our county seat. Billings is the largest town in this part of the state. Farming both dry and irrigated is intensively carried on, this being the Clark Fork Valley. Fruit land is selling high, some that is in fine condition selling for $75 to $100 per acre. We are not far from where Gen. Custer met his defeat by the Indians on the famous Little Big Horn.

I liked Washington first rate and the trip across the Rockies is well worth the time and expense. Washington is going to be one of our best states within a very few years. Teaching as a profession is well paid, in fact there is a scarcity of male teachers, and in some localities of female teachers too.

I am looking for the Herald this week. It is improving right along and I should feel lost without it. Extend my best regards to any who happen to inquire for me. Hoping you the best of success, and a Happy New Year, I remain,

W. M. Black.
